Join Us On 4/16 For Equity Talks – New Webinar Series

Please join Discovery Education Equity Talks, a new live webinar series featuring the nation’s top educational leaders. Moderated by Dr. Luvelle Brown, superintendent of Ithaca City School District, each 45-minute installment will focus on how school leaders are cultivating equity and excellence in the wake of nationwide school closures.

Watch and listen as guest educational leaders explore topics such as:

- Assessment of Learning Needs: Now and When Schools Reopen

  For all students, with specific attention to the needs of historically underserved groups of students; students of color, disabilities, and temporary housing; and multilingual learners.

- Allocation of Resources: Staff, Time, and Materials

  For extended learning time during the summer and for the 2020-2021 school year based on student need.

- Budget Implications

  For reopening schools safely and playing catch-up with students who’ve been out of school for weeks or perhaps months. This also includes closing this year’s budget and evaluating the impact of closure.

These events will take place every other Thursday with new featured guests each session. Please visit the Discovery Education Equity Talks page for more information and to register for their next talk!
